THE ANNIVERSARY CONVENTION BEGINS

Two Inspiring Addresses Last Night.

TODAY'S SESSIONS.

Motive For Evangelizing World Should Be Love of Christ For Men, Says Dr. W. H. Smith—The Home Base the Serious Problem in Missionary Work, Declares Dr. C. F. Reid—Inspiring Music—Addresses Today.

When one entered the First Presbyterian church last evening there came a strong reminder of the great Laymen's Convention of last January. It was true that the crowd was small as compared with that magnificent body of men who attended the convention, but somehow the same depth of spirituality pervaded the air and filled the hearts of all present. And when Rev. Melton Clark announced that old familiar hymn and as the music burst forth from the organ and then from the throats of those present it made one feel good to be present.

"Blow ye the trumpet blow
The gladly solemn sound,
Let all the nations know
To earth's remotest bound;
The year of jubilee is come!

Return ye ransomed sinners home!" As the final lingering note floated from the organ a second hymn was announced and the audience joined eagerly in singing "I love to tell the story of Jesus and His love," it being evident that the first hymn has awakened in them a deep spirituality, and a desire to "Let all the nations know." Prayer by Rev. W. R. Ware, D. D., the reading of a portion of Romans: 10 by Rev. Thos. G. Paulkner and the singing of "In the Cross of Christ I Glory," concluded the devotional exercises of the initial session of the anniversary convention of the Laymen's Movement in Greensboro.

The session last night was attended by some of the most influential business men of the city and they listened with intense interest to the messages brought by the speakers. Even when the final song had been sung and the benediction pronounced many remained to greet the speakers and exchange greetings with each other. Mr. J. Norman Wills, who presided, in opening the convention spoke of the awakening Greensboro had received just one year ago; a new responsibility had been laid at her door and at this convention the reports from the several churches would show how this responsibility had been met. "Life is most worth living to him whose work is most worth while," said Mr. Wills.

"A Sufficient Motive For the Task," was the subject assigned Dr. W. H. Smith, educational secretary of the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, and in an able and earnest address he set forth the motive which should cause each layman to work for the cause of missions. "Two things are essential in order to successfully carry on the work of evangelizing the world," said Dr. Smith, "an adequate method of raising funds and a sufficient motive."

Touching on the first essential he said that heretofore the work of raising missionary funds had fallen largely on the pastor and the women have been expected to do what the pastor left undone. The Laymen's Movement was now taking this work off them largely and the laymen were realizing that this was the biggest thing the church is called to do. He spoke of the great amount of interest being paid on money borrowed to meet actual expenses. This could be used to advantage if the "every member canvass" and the "every Sunday offering" was literally carried out in all churches. As to the latter essential the speaker pointed out the many ways in which earthly reward would be reaped by those who worked to Christianize the world. But this is nothing as compared with the real motive, which should be, he said, the love of Christ for men and because He expects us to do the work. He beautifully illustrated the faith of Christ in Christian people that they would carry the gospel into the uttermost parts of the earth.

Dr. Smith stated, before touching upon the more vital points in his address, that Greensboro had held one of the largest and most successful, if not the most successful of any of the seventy-five conventions that were held last year. And, he continued, the leaders of the movement tell me that Greensboro has come nearer to living up to her adopted policy than any other city. The speaker also told of the work in foreign lands, especially the work of the Baptists in Italy.

At the conclusion of the address the audience stood and sang that beautiful hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name," at the conclusion of which Mr. Wills presented Dr. C. F. Reid, secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, who spoke on "The Relation of the Laymen's Missionary Movement to the Home Base."

"The problems of the world are shifting," declared the speaker, in beginning his discourse. He pointed out the fact that only a few years ago China, Japan, Korea and other heathen countries were closed to missionaries and he who would spread the gospel within their bounds carried his life in his hands, literally speaking. Now the laymen in Korea are working even more strenuously than the American people to carry the gospel to those who know it not.

The home base is indeed the problem of the missionary work, said Dr. Reid, and the speaker gave numerous reasons for this assertion. His own denomination in the South last year raised in the South $12,000,000, $1,000,000 of which went abroad. Those who contributed to that sum earned $490,000,000 and they were keeping to themselves, according to scriptures, $37,000,000 that rightly belonged to Him who prospered them. And other denominations were giving out about the same sum. He declared that the members of the several denominations in the United States were giving to missions only 2-5 of one cent per week each. One tenth of the church membership was contributing nine-tenths of the total amount contributed for missions, leaving about two-fifths of the members who gave nothing. The speaker emphasized the fact that so much is spent annually in supporting the work in this country where all have an opportunity of knowing Christ and so little being spent in establishing churches and teaching those who know Him not. The members have almost forgotten that their duty is to give the gospel to those who have never heard of it. Dr. Reid spoke of the great advantage the local church obtains when it adopts the missionary committee, the every member canvass and the every Sunday offering, in that it sets forth a large army of laymen, who have been languishing and almost falling from grace because of having nothing to do, at work and makes them feel they have something to do in the great work; that they do not have to simply go to church and drop a few pennies into the collection plate occasionally, but they have a prominent part in the church work. This keeps them interested and prevents them from engaging in those things that would tend to draw them away from the church.

The speaker spoke of the great educational awakening that had followed the Laymen's Conventions of last year and said that it was now up to the denominational churches to keep this interest awake and further the cause by enlarging the educational opportunities afforded by the awakening. He read figures showing the result the movement is already having on churches. Another thing upon which the speaker laid emphasis was the fact that when the home church is showing but little interest in the work it is a great discouragement to the workers who are overcoming great difficulties daily in carrying forward their work. When the problem of the home base is settled the greatest difficulty in foreign missionary work will have been overcome, declared the speaker.

The missionary hymn, "From Greenland's Icy Mountains," and the benediction by Dr. Smith closed the service. There will be three sessions today, this morning at 10:30 o'clock, this afternoon at 3 o'clock and tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The laymen of the churches are urged to attend as the addresses will be most helpful and interesting. Merchants are requested to allow their clerks to attend. The ladies are extended a cordial invitation to attend, there being plenty of seats to accommodate fully a thousand people. Mr. G. H. Miles will preside over the session this morning. Rev. T. E. White, returned missionary of the Southern Christian Convention to Porto Rico, will speak on "Then and Now in Porto Rico," being followed by Mr. S. R. Harris, of Henderson, who will speak on "The Broadening Effect on the Individual of the Laymen's Missionary Movement." At 12 o'clock the reports from the city churches will be read.

This afternoon Mr. A. Wayland Cooke will preside. Rev. J. Kenneth Pfuhl, pastor of the Home Moravian church, of Salem, will speak on "Missions and the Individual." Rev. J. H. Peele, of Guilford College, will speak on "The Relation of World Peace to Foreign Missions." At 4 o'clock denominational rallies will be held.

The concluding session this evening will be presided over by Mr. A. M. Seales. The speaker will be Dr. J. O. Reavis, of Nashville, Tenn., co-ordinate secretary of the executive committee of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. His subject will be "Africa as I Saw It." Following the address the reports of the various committees will be made, the executive committee for the coming year elected and the Greensboro Policy adopted.

MAIL ON SUNDAYS

It May Be Had During One Hour Now But the Practice Will Probably Be Abandoned.

A Washington dispatch of recent date says:

"There is a very strong sentiment throughout the country in favor of the discontinuance of the delivery of mail on Sundays, and this sentiment should be respected, says the first assistant postmaster general in his annual report submitted today. Postal employees, he continues, are undoubtedly entitled to one day of rest in seven. All reputable commercial and industrial establishments close on Sundays. To accommodate the traveling public and those who have important personal mail arriving on Sundays it may be necessary to keep the general delivery window open, but the expense of the department that with the growing use of the special delivery service urgent messages requiring attention on Sunday are not sent in the ordinary mail, and that calling at the postoffice on Sunday for mail is usually a matter of habit rather than necessity."

There is a concerted effort of postal employees all over the country to do away with Sunday opening. Here the office is open for the delivery of mail for an hour every Sunday morning. The practice cuts quite a hole into the Sundays of the carriers and office employees and they are anxious to see it abandoned. The prospects of their carrying their point are thought to be very good.

CRAWLED FOUR HOURS.

Man Fell From Moving Train—Too Badly Hurt To Walk—Travelling on All Fours.

Early yesterday morning shortly before daylight a man by the name of J. E. Watson, who was coming into the city on a freight train fell while the train was in motion, and crawled to the watch-house at the Summit avenue crossing. He said that he was so badly hurt that he could not walk and that he crawled for four hours in an endeavor to find some one who could give him assistance. He was sent to St. Leo's hospital and surgeons of the Southern were dispatched there to dress his wounds.

A report from the hospital last night said that he was not seriously hurt, having suffered mainly from the severe shake-up he received and from two or three cuts and bruises, which will be healed in a few days.

Y. W. C. A. Health Lectures.

This evening the first of a series of health lectures will be delivered at the Y. W. C. A. rooms, at eight o'clock, by Dr. Anna M. Gove, of the Normal College. These lectures will be given free to all women, and it is hoped that the young women of Greensboro will take advantage of their opportunity to be present and hear these most helpful talks.

Death in Country.

Mrs. Martha B. Freeman died Wednesday night at her home four miles from the city. She is survived by her husband and four children. The funeral was held yesterday at 11 o'clock, and interment was made in Red Hill cemetery.

YESTERDAY IN LEGISLATURE

Number of Bills Were Introduced.

Considerable Discussion In House Over Disposition of Koonce Resolution Regarding Insurance Commission—Kirkman Would Prevent Deprivations by Domestic Fowls—Appropriations Bill.

Raleigh, Jan. 12.—In the legislature today a number of bills were introduced, the majority being purely of a local nature and of no interest to anyone except those directly concerned. In the House there was considerable discussion as to what committee the Koonce resolution for a commission to investigate insurance companies should go, it finally being referred to the propositions and grievances.

Senate.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock. Rev. Hight C. Moore, editor of the Biblical Recorder, offering prayer.

On motion of Senator Holgood, of Guilford, the bill creating a commission form of government for Greensboro was recalled from the engrossing clerk's office and ordered sent to the House without engrossment.

Introduction of Bills.

Graham, of Orange: To provide for the payment of all appropriations during the session and for the redemption of bonds falling due January 1, 1913, but authorizing the state treasurer upon the approval of the council of state to borrow money or if satisfactory loans cannot be made to issue bonds not to exceed one million dollars. Referred to judiciary committee.

There were twelve bidders, those not mentioned above being: Central Carolina Construction Co., Greensboro, N. C.; D. J. Phipps, Newport News, Va.; Schmidt Bros. Construction Co., Chicago, Ill.; J. B. Carr & Co., Raleigh, N. C.; N. Underwood, Durham, N. C.; Wise Granite Co., Richmond, Va.; Jno. T. Hunt & Co., Greensboro; W. H. Fissell & Co., New York City; Larson-Davidson Construction Co., La Porte, Ind.

The Senate ordered that 250 copies of Senator Graham's bill relating to appropriations be printed.

The Senate at 12:10 adjourned until 11 o'clock Friday.

The House.

Representative Woodson, of Cleveland, offered the prayer when Speaker Dowd convened the House at 11 o'clock.

For Constitutional Amendment.

Reports of committees being called the committee on Constitutional amendments reported favorably the Stubbs resolution for calling a constitutional convention in May, 1913, provide the people so vote and it was made a special order for Wednesday January 25.

The Koonce joint resolution for a legislative commission with full court powers to investigate the conduct of fire insurance companies in North Carolina came to the judiciary committee No. 1 with recommendation that it go to the committee on propositions and grievances, of which its author is chairman. There was a motion that it go to the committee on insurance instead. This brought Koonce to his feet with a vigorous speech in which he took the position that a number of the members of the insurance committee are insurance men or interested one way or another in insurance matters and he feared they would be unduly influenced in passing on his bill. He said there is already a strong lobby at work against his resolution.

There came from Representative Woodson, of Cleveland, indignant resentment at Mr. Koonce's reference to possible bias on the part of insurance committeemen. A number of members urged that the committee on insurance, yet to be appointed, be given the bill. Others contended that Mr. Koonce's position was well taken. On an aye and no vote the bill went to propositions and grievances.

There was favorable committee report on the bill by General Carr amending the charter of Trinity College so that that institution can hold more than two million dollars property, this being to enable the college to rebuild the administration building on a scale desired.

New Bills Introduced.

Kirkman, of Guilford: Prevent deprivations by domestic fowls.

Carr, of Durham: Regulate Confederate pensions.

Taylor, of Vance, Safeguard the agricultural building of the state.

cultural building of the state.

Turlington, of Iredell: Giving corporation commission supervision over railroad scales.

ONE OF THREE Y. M. C. A. BIDS WILL BE ACCEPTED

Building Committee Held Meeting Last Night—Numerous Bidders.

A meeting of the building committee of the Young Men's Christian Association was held last night to consider bids for the construction of the building. The full committee was present as follows: J. J. Stone, E. P. Wharton, A. B. High, L. J. Brandt and E. A. Brown. The committee decided to hold for further consideration the bids of the lowest bidder, the second lowest and the third lowest. The bids had been called for in lump sum and in itemized form and the items for the sub-contracts varied so much that it was difficult to tell without some time for consideration of the bids which was the most favorable. The three bidders, one of whom will be awarded the contract, were as follows: Wilkerson-Moffitt Construction Co., of Durham; King Lumber Company, of Charlottesville, Va.; Ange-Caldwell Construction Company, of Winston-Salem.

It is probable that the building committee will get a meeting of the board of directors before finally placing the contract.

Meeting with the building committee last night was Mr. Shattuck, of Shattuck & Hussey, of Chicago, the architects who made the plans that were finally adopted. Mr. Hussey of this firm is now on his way to Asia in connection with plans which his firm will make for fifty Y. M. C. A. buildings, at a cost of eighty thousand dollars each, in Japan, Manchuria, Korea and China. This firm has also made plans for 400 Y. M. C. A. buildings in this country costing from two millions down. Making a specialty of Y. M. C. A. buildings they are better prepared to make plans for them than are the architects who do a general line of work.

The bids as a rule, a member of the committee said, were an agreeable surprise in that they were somewhat lower than had been anticipated.

There were twelve bidders, those not mentioned above being:

Central Carolina Construction Co., Greensboro, N. C.; D. J. Phipps, Newport News, Va.; Schmidt Bros. Construction Co., Chicago, Ill.; J. B. Carr & Co., Raleigh, N. C.; N. Underwood, Durham, N. C.; Wise Granite Co., Richmond, Va.; Jno. T. Hunt & Co., Greensboro; W. H. Fissell & Co., New York City; Larson-Davidson Construction Co., La Porte, Ind.

DEBATE AT PLEASANT GARDEN

Question To Be Contested With Debaters From Jamestown High School.

It is both interesting and wholesome to see the public schools of the county as well as the cities following the lead of some of the colleges in arranging for debates on vital and timely topics. Recently committees from the Jamestown and Pleasant Garden high schools met in Greensboro and perfected arrangements for a joint debate to be held at Pleasant Garden on Friday evening, March 10. The representatives are wide awake and filled with enthusiasm. The contest will be conducted along the right lines, all the regular rules of debate will be observed, and the contestants are preparing to help the public to settle a most important question.

It is really wonderful to see how Guilford county forges ahead in all lines pertaining to the education of her youth, and this movement for engaging in periodic forensic contests is one of as much importance as class-room work.

ELKS' LODGE ROOM TENDERED

Annual Meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Will Be Held There.

The Elks have kindly tendered the Chamber of Commerce the use of their lodge room for the annual meeting of the Chamber next Tuesday night.

Plans are being made to make the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce an occasion of exceptional interest. A committee is working up a program of short, snappy speeches. Arrangements are also being made to provide refreshments which will be partaken of after the business of the meeting has been disposed of.

A Rabbit Story.

Yesterday a number of local nimrods went out on a rabbit search and when they returned last night they declared that they bagged on less than 47 rabbits and three squirrels. One rabbit was jumped and he made for posted land, the hunters being compelled to give up the case. This was the only "cotton-tail" that escaped, they state.

MATTAMUSKEET LAKE DRAINAGE

It Will Cost About $400,000

According to Estimate of Engineer

Wright and of Expert From New Orleans—Several Charters Issued Yesterday—Carteret Representative Given Oyster Feast—Seed Corn Demonstrations.

Raleigh, Jan. 12.—The Asheville Country Club's charter is amended increasing its capital to $75,000 from $25,000. The Bank of Thomasville increases capital to $50,000. New charters are issued for the Sedge Garden Telephone Company, of Kernersville, capital $10,000, by D. A. Smith and others and for the Hardison-Rivers Company, of Morven, capital $50,000 by J. V. Hardison and others for mercantile business.

The State Board of Education has received a report from Engineer Holman, of New Orleans, the expert agreed upon by the board of education and the Roper Lumber Company to pass upon the estimates of Engineer Wright of the cost of the drainage of Mattamuskeet Lake, in Hyde county. He reports that the $400,000 estimate of Engineer Wright is adequate. He recommends a few minor changes in the plans. The president of the lumber company was summoned here today, but has an important engagement in New York and the details of the findings of the experts are wired to him and he asked to withdraw all exceptions to the drainage undertaking so that the deal by the state for the sale of the lake bed to a Northern syndicate as held up December 1 by his exceptions may be put through.

Sam Whitson, white, is under a $25,000 bond in a case in which he is charged with perjury in that he swore upon applying for a marriage license that there was no impediment, when he had a living wife in Winston-Salem. He was given a hearing before the police justice, and his case will now be considered by a Wake county jury.

Mr. F. W. Habel, of Raleigh, is appointed by Governor Kitchin as a member of the board of directors of the Colored State Hospital at Goldsboro to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. E. G. Moore, of Elm City.

Hon. C. S. Wallace, representative in the House from Cartaret county, on his return from a visit to his home at Morehead City entertained the clerical force of the House at a delightful oyster feast, having brought a barrel of oysters back with him. All of the house clerks and a few invited guests attended the feast, which proved an event of much enjoyment, and his guests extended him a vote of thanks for his thoughtfulness.

At least one "seed corn" meeting will be held during January and February in each of the forty-four counties where the work is being carried on. These meetings will be held under the auspices of the Farmers' Co-operative Demonstration work, United States Department of Agriculture. The day will be spent at each place studying corn and discussing the best methods of corn growing. Farmers will take their seed corn for exhibition and comparison with their neighbors. The meeting will be conducted by corn experts of the National and State Departments of Agriculture.

The Wake county grand jury returned a true bill today against Claude Sanders, the negro arrested last week on the charge of murdering his wife and two stepchildren and then burning them in their home. A few hours after the house was burned suspicion pointed to Sanders and he was held by the coroner for the grand jury.

The Grand Lodge of Masons completed the work of its annual communication today and adjourned. All the old officers elected last night were installed today: Hon. R. N. Hackett, of Wilkesboro, is grand master, and Hon. William B. McCoy, of Wilmington, deputy grand master. Among other important matters the Grand Lodge raised a collection of $5,000 for the Masonic Home for Aged and Infirm to be established at Greensboro.

Adjudged Bankrupt.

In United States Court yesterday a voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed by A. L. Hanser, contractor, of Winston-Salem. The case was referred to J. E. Alexander, referee in bankruptcy. The liabilities are estimated at $3,228 and the assets $12,600.

WIFE WINS SEPARATION FOR 'UNBROKEN CRUELTY.'

Mrs. Elizabeth Gaynor Lays Long List of Rich Husband's Faults Before Courts.

New York World.
Mrs. Elizabeth Gaynor, a handsome young woman, has gained a decree of separation from her husband, Edward Gaynor, the wealthy owner of a garage. Justice O'Gorman of the Supreme Court also allowed alimony to Mrs. Gaynor; the amount to be fixed later.

In her affidavits the wife avowed she married Gaynor in 1900 and they were happy for four years. Then his whole manner changed, he became cruel to her and his acts of cruelty "instead of being a series of separate transactions were so continuous that there was no break between them and no rest."

Mrs. Gaynor swears her husband drank to excess and took to gambling, three places where he gambled being named—two in West Fifty-fourth street, another in Seventh avenue, near Fifty-third street.

He struck her, she avers, called her "vile and blasphemous names, insulted her, always a true wife, with such taunts as:

"Why don't you go with those fancy friends of yours. I'm tired of you; I hate you."

Occasionally, says Mrs. Gaynor, her husband tore handfuls of hair from her head; once she gathered the hair from the floor and displayed it to her husband's lawyer. She came to the conclusion, she swears, that he associated with a class of people who had convinced him there is no good woman in the world.

Finally Mrs. Gaynor left him; she had him arrested and convicted of non-support and abandonment and adjudged a disorderly person. The Magistrate ordered him to treat her decently and pay her a certain sum each week for her support, but this, she claims, he failed to do.

In some way, the wife says, Gaynor learned where she was living, and when he informed the police of the West Forty-seventh street station that she had committed suicide they broke in the door of her room at 11 o'clock at night.

Gaynor positively denied all her accusations. Incidentally, he said that if his business associates were not "college graduates" they were "good people."

THE CONCRETE TIE.

Importance of a California Inventor in Railroad Construction of the Country. Boston Transcript.

In the evolutionary processes of constructive development the world has passed through many ages; the age of stone, the age of wood, the age of steel, and apparently it is now entering upon the cement or concrete age. In this respect the decade just closed has been one of almost marvelous expansion. In 1900 the output and use of Portland cement was six million barrels. In 1910 it was sixty-five million barrels, and considerably more than half of that is to be credited to the last four years. This material is entering more and more into building construction. It lends itself to designs of beauty as well as practical use, and is growing in favor for bridges and business buildings and to an increasing extent for residences. The growing scarcity of lumber, the pliability of this material and its practical indestructibility, all commend it to those contemplating new construction for almost any purpose.

Now a marvelous story of a new adaptation comes from the Pacific Coast, and should it prove true it can be set down as an epochal event in industrial development. It is asserted that George Gates, a struggling inventor of San Jose, Cal., has produced, after many years of experimentation, a railroad tie of this substance that meets all the requirements of such a support, is cheaper than the wooden tie, and will last many times as long. It is furthermore stated that he has sold to the railroads his patent rights for over seventeen million dollars, and that it is regarded as the greatest railway invention since the airbrake.

Cement and metal ties have been tried before, but in this country they have not been found satisfactory. The solid cement lacks resiliency, but the new tie will spring nearly two inches and come back to line each one being reinforced with thirty-six strands of barbed wire. The tie problem has been one of the most critical confronting the railroads in recent years. A mile of track requires about twenty-five hundred ties. This makes nearly seven hundred million of them for the mileage of the country. About eighty millions are annually required for renewals and something like fifteen millions more for new construction, of over three hundred millions cubic feet of timber. Moreover, the requirement of uniform dimensions makes it necessary to have a special growth, involving careful selection and not a little waste.

The big systems have contemplated the future of their business with more apprehension on this account than almost any other. They have established great tree plantations for their protection and have experimented broadly with preservatives for the wood, but in spite of all such precautions the situation is steadily going against them.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY PILLS

Are tonic in action, quick in results. A special medicine for all kidney and bladder disorders. Mary C. Abbott, Wolfboro, N. H., says: "I was afflicted with a bad case of rheumatism, due to uric acid that my kidneys failed to clear out of my blood. I was so lame in my feet, joints, and back that it was agony for me to step. I used Foley's Kidney Pills for three days when I was able to get up and move about and the pains were all gone. This great change in condition I owe to Foley's Kidney Pills and recommend them to anyone suffering as I have." Howard Gardner.

The Tramp's Thanksgiving

By MARJORIE CLOUGH
Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Evelyn Holt, aged thirty, was preparing for Thanksgiving. She had stuffed the turkey, made the cranberry sauce, baked the pumpkin pies, and there was nothing to do till it was time to cook the dinner. The cold was increasing, the wind was blowing, and the clouds were spitting snow. Miss Holt, seeing a few pieces of the week's washing still on the clothesline in the yard, fearing they would be torn by the wind, went out to bring them in. While doing so a tramp put his hand on the gate to open it. Pausing, he looked at Evelyn, then, opening the gate, entered the yard. Lifting his hat, he respectfully said:

"I'm sorry, miss, on this Thanksgiving day to throw anything unpleasant in the way of any one, but I'm a tramp, with a tramp's home, which is nowhere, and there's something I'm longing for. I'd like to enter some family for the day where I can see others happy about me. I've been working occasionally lately and earned some money; therefore I can contribute to the expense of the dinner. If you'll just take me in, miss, for the few hours that remain before the day is ended you will confer an everlasting favor."

There was something in the manner, the voice, the expression, of the man that touched a chord in Evelyn's heart. She did not reply for a few moments. She was thinking that she would like to give this pleasure to the poor wanderer, who spoke too sincerely to be imposing upon her. Presently she said:

"Come in and I'll give you something to eat, anyway. We're not much better off than you in this house, but we've got a good dinner. We always have that on Thanksgiving, even if we have to pinch in some other way."

"You needn't pinch this year. I've got enough to pay for it all. And money doesn't do a tramp any good. Money is only fit for those who have the wandering fever."

He entered the house with Evelyn, who offered him something to eat, but he declined, saying that he could buy what he needed. He longed to be one of a family Thanksgiving party, and if he couldn't be admitted to their circle he would go away. As the different members came in Evelyn communicated to them what he wished, and since no one seriously objected and he asked to be permitted to leave with them an amount to pay for the whole dinner he was suffered to remain.

Shortly before the dinner hour he went away, saying that he would return. He did return, and much improved in appearance. His stubble beard had been shaved, his hair cut, and he had evidently bought and put on a clean shirt. Besides, he had had a bath. When the family were seated at dinner he asked permission to say grace and when suffered to do so gave thanks not only for the bountiful provision, but also that it had pleased God to bestow upon this deserving family every comfort. No one understood what he meant by "every comfort," since they were all very much cramped for their daily expenses.

Grace had hardly been said when a grocer's wagon drove up and left a bottle of wine. Evelyn went to the door, received it and returned with a blank expression on her face.

"It's one of the 'comforts,'" said the tramp.

"Oh, I see," said Evelyn. "You sent it."

"Yes, I told you I had enough to give us all a good time."

Under the influence of the dinner and the wine the company waxed genial, the tramp took on a mood far more pleasing than one who was a homeless wanderer, and all were glad they had taken him in.

Finally, when the dinner was ended and they were all eating nuts and raisins, the tramp took a little book out of his pocket, wrote something, tore it out and handed it to Evelyn.

"Is that enough?" he said. "If not there's plenty more."

"Evelyn saw before her a check for $10,000."

"I don't know what it means," she said.

"It means, Evelyn, that I'm Jim Scarborough. I went away fifteen years ago and have been a wanderer and a speculator ever since. You called me a dreamer, and so I was. I finally struck some luck and came back to let my story tell itself. If I had come as myself you wouldn't have believed me. That's a check for $10,000, payable to you for you to distribute among this family. I've got a lot more for you in case you're willing to redeem your promise, if I would settle down and make money enough to support a wife."

Every one at the table save Evelyn looked at the man, wondering if he was mad. She simply gazed on him, wondering if all this were true or if she were dreaming.

"This isn't the place for private affairs," he continued, "but I prefer to have it all out at once. I'm a rich man, but in one sense a tramp. I have no home unless this is to be my home in the future."

"This is your home, Jim," said Evelyn, putting out her hand, and in the presence of all present he took her in his arms.

The writer will henceforth go armed. That is, he will on occasion. For County Clerk J. W. Forbis has presented him with a hickory stick. This stick Capt. Forbis cut on Guilford Battle Ground on soil that was watered by the blood of his great-great-grandfather. Capt. Forbis also painted and varnished and ferruled it, making it a jam up stick in all respects. Naturally we are very proud of our hickory stick.

Commander Sims talked too much when at a banquet in London he pledged "every man, every dollar, every drop of blood" in this country to Great Britain if she needed them. But President Taft, in directing that he be reprimanded, probably allows for the circumstances.—Exchange.

A man with no better sense of the proprieties than Sims displayed on the occasion mentioned should feel that he has been very mercifully treated when he gets off with a mere reprimand.

State Attorney-General Carmody, of New York, has announced that thirty-nine lawyers who have held lucrative positions as special counsel for the State in franchise tax litigation will be released and the work turned over to corporation counsel of the cities affected. One of the platform pledges of Gov. Dix was to reduce State expenses and he has gone to work in a way which shows that he believes platforms were made to stand on rather than to get in on. Dix is going to make a quiet sort of chief executive, but he has already demonstrated that he is going to be effective.

Concluding his argument before the Supreme Court in the tobacco trust case, Belaney Nicoll, of counsel for the trust, said:

What more preposterous proposal was ever made to this court than that it should lend its aid to destroy this great business, to raise this fabric of American industry to the ground, drive buyers from the markets, until the tobacco rots in the fields, embarrass merchants, annoy customers, and destroy the returning confidence of the financial and industrial world. I cannot believe that any such proposal will find favor in this august tribunal, where common sense prevails, where reason reigns and where passion and prejudice play no part.

Mr. Nicoll is not quoted fully, but the foregoing would seem to imply that he relied quite strongly on the inconvenience the enforcement of the anti-trust law would cause. But that sort of argument should come before law-making, not law-construing, bodies. The trusts will never be reached without embarrassing and inconveniencing many people. But that fact doesn't lighten the obligation resting on the government to break them up. If laws could be enforced without causing embarrassments, the law would have terrors for none.

The Monroe Journal, edited by Mr. R. F. Beasley, a former editor of The Telegram, advocates a monument for the late Maj. Jos. M. Morehead. The Journal says:

In the death of Maj. Joseph M. Morehead, at Greensboro Sunday, the state loses a man that dearly loved the state and its history, especially its Revolutionary history, of which he made a great study. As president of the Guilford Battle Ground Company, he devoted his time and talents to taking care of and enlarging the park now maintained on the scene of the conflict between Greene and Cornwallis, from which the latter fled to his defeat at Yorktown. He pursued the objects of the association with a singular passion, and there ought now to be a monument placed on the ground to the memory of Joseph M. Morehead.

This is a splendid suggestion and we have no doubt it will be carried out. There should be some lasting memorial to the man who labored so unselfishly and so efficiently for Guilford Battle Ground. Nothing would be more fitting than to erect a monument to him who so earnestly wrought that monuments might be erected to the Revolutionary heroes and thus performed a great public service.

THE SPECIAL SCHOOL TAX

Its Advantages—Some Figures—People Awaking—"Guilford to the Front," the Slogan.

It is gratifying to see the school districts of the county voting a special school tax, for where there is not such a tax it is to be observed that the attendance is not nearly so large, to say nothing of the short term of the non-tax district. Where there is a special tax there is necessarily more interest in education, and for two reasons: First, the man who pays for a thing is usually going to see that he gets the worth of his money; secondly, one who shows an interest in any movement to the extent of casting his ballot, knowing at the same time that he must back up the act with his proportion of the cost, can and does boost, and with authority. It is the man who doesn't pay who decries a good thing. But, there is another great reason for the increased attendance in the special tax district; namely, better teachers and better equipment. The day of the poor teacher is fortunately rapidly passing. A teacher who does not know his text cannot and does not command respect and attention, and hence there is a serious lack of discipline; and where there is no discipline, there will not be a school for long. Then, the appliances must be modern and adequate, if the best results and the largest attendance are to be had.

In rural Guilford there are 7,419 white children of school age living in districts where school does not run 9 months in the year. Every child in Guilford county should have the same chance. And there is under the present laws and system of education but one way for these districts to get beyond the short term; namely, by voting the special tax. Of the 7,419 children mentioned, 4,897 live in local tax districts, and 2,522 live in districts having no such tax. According to the school census, the enrollment and average attendance in local and non-local districts for the year just closed are as follows: Enrollment, local tax, 2,541; non-local tax, 2,522; average attendance, local tax, 1,945; non-local tax, 1,331. As per the census figures, it is found that 80 per cent. of the children of school age in local tax districts were in school last year, while in non-local tax districts only 77 per cent. of such pupils were enrolled.

There are 2,522 white children who have only four months of schooling during the year, and without the proper equipment. And where the special tax has not voted there are fewer teachers; hence, more pupils to the class, resulting in a lack of efficiency and thoroughness. About half of the rural districts are groping along yet with a four months term of school, and a lack of efficient work, because they have not yet voted the special tax. But they are gradually awaking, and it is to be hoped that in these districts the citizens will soon decide to give their children equal advantages with those of the more advanced sections of this notably progressive county.

Fire Last Night.

An alarm of fire last night about 11:30 o'clock from box 27 called the firemen to the eastern part of the city. A large barn belonging to Mr. Garland Daniel, just beyond the A. & M. College, was on fire. The building and contents were consumed, the loss being more than $2,000. It was not known last night whether there were any horses in the barn or not as the building was almost consumed when the firemen arrived. The fire was too far out for fighting. The origin is unknown.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all the other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THE BUDDHIST HADES.

Eight Easy Stages of the Most Awful Kinds of Torture.

The places of torment to which all wicked Buddhists are to be assigned on the day of final reckoning is a terrible place of punishment. This Buddhist hell is divided into eight "easy stages."

In the first the poor victim is compelled to walk for untold ages in his bare feet over hills thickly set with red-hot needles, points upward. In the second stage the skin is all carefully fluted or rasped from the body and irritating mixtures applied. In the third stage the nails, hair and eyes are plucked out and the denuded body saved and planed into all sorts of fantastic shapes. The fourth stage is that of "sorrowful lamentations." In the fifth the left side of the body and the denuded head are carefully roasted, Yema, the Buddhist Satan, superintending the work. In the sixth stage the arms are torn from the body and thrown into an immense vat among the eyes, nails and hair previously removed. Then in plain hearing of the sore footed, blind, maimed, roasted and bleeding victim the whole horrid mass is pounded into a jelly. In the seventh stage the other side of the victim and his feet are roasted brown, and then comes the eighth and last stage, in which the candidate is thrown into the bottomless pit of perdition.

DEADLY MINE GASES.

White Damp, Firedamp, Black Damp and the Fearful After Damp.

"White damp is the gas most feared by the miners, for its properties render it difficult to detect, inasmuch as it is tasteless, odorless and colorless and when mixed in the proportion of about one part gas to nine parts air is called "firedamp" and becomes explosive to a degree hard to realize unless one has seen its effects.

Black damp, unlike white damp, is heavier than air, a nonexplosive gas which may be detected by its peculiar odor. Again, unlike the other, its effect is to suffocate and extinguish fire. This gas is so heavy and moves with such a sluggish flow that occasionally, when miners have been trapped in a mine following an explosion and have detected the black damp creeping in upon them by its smell, they have been able to stop its advance by erecting dams or barricades along the floor, building them higher as the volume of gas increased and keeping the air within their little inclosure comparatively clean by rude improvised fans.

Following an explosion, these two gases become mingled and form a mixed gas, possessing all the dreaded qualities of each, which is known as "after damp," and it is the mixture of gases which destroys any life that may remain following a mine disaster. —Atlantic Monthly.

Late Rising Birds.

A pair of singing birds had been advertised for sale.

"The property of a late rising family," the dealer stated.

"I wound up with that clause," he said, "so possible purchasers would not be scared off by the prospect of an unearthly chattering at 5 o'clock in the morning. Birds can be trained to keep any kind of hours. If they are brought up by a family of nightawks they learn to go to bed at midnight and get up at 9 a. m., along with the rest of the folks, but if they are tucked in right away after supper they wake up the neighborhood at a correspondingly early hour the next morning. It is advisable for any person who is likely to lie abed until noon to inquire into the early training of a bird before buying."—New York Sun.

A Good Business Year.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of Huntley-Stockton-Hill Company was held yesterday afternoon. The reports of the officers showed that the year just closed had been a successful one, the volume of business having increased materially during the year. Mr. B. F. Huntley, of Winston, was re-elected president and Mr. J. C. Cherry, of this city, manager. Mr. George L. Stansbury will continue in charge of the undertaking department.

afternoon at 5 o'clock, will be held from at 11 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. E.

Woosley, pastor of the Proximity Methodist church, of which the deceased was a consistent member. The interment will follow in Green Hill cemetery. Mr.
Vanstory was 24 years of age.

The pall-bearers of the funeral will be

Board of Aldermen.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Board of Aldermen will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the council chambers. There are a number of mat-all probability make its report. Preparations for the election on the commission plan will begin.

Federal Court Adjourns.

Federal court has adjourned until the latter part of January. The jury will return about January 24, the exact date to be decided later, when the case of Chesterfield Manufacturing Company vs.
Leota Cotton Mills will be taken up.
This case was taken up last June, about a week being consumed in the taking of testimony and argument. After deliberating for more than a day the jury failed to agree and a mistrial was ordered.
The suit is regarding the quality of certain goods sold the defendant by the plaintiff.

made a satisfactory settlement with Mr.
I. Isaacson, whose stock of clothing was insurance would not cover his loss. He is now moving his stock into the store at 308 South Elm and as soon as it can be displayed will put his entire stock on sale as he intends to close it out within as short a time as possible.

Work House Boy Caught.

Early yesterday morning Policemen
Patterson, Jeffreys and Causey caught another member of the gang of negro boys who escaped from the work house several days ago. He was sent back.

CONVICTS WHO MADE GOOD.

As a Railroad Man Once Notorious Burglar Earns $12,000 a Year. Albany Dispatch to the New York Herald.

Two interesting things are shown by the records on file with the pardon clerk at the State capitol. One is that there are many men in the great State of New York going through life with sinister pasts known neither to wives nor children. The other is that men down their evil ways and become successful and respected citizens.

Most remarkable cases of this kind came to the attention of the officials during the closing days of the administration of Gov. Horace White. Names are not made public. It has always been the custom to shield from publicity such persons as ought to have their citizenship restored, on the theory that publication might do them much harm by branding them as convicts.

Scores of applications for restoration were made to Governor White, and quite a few of them were granted. The most remarkable came from a man who is now a prominent railway man in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He earns a salary of $12,000 a year and lives in fine style with his family. His petition to be restored to the full rights of citizenship was indorsed by a lawyer of prominence, who declared that he and the petitioner himself were the only living persons who knew that "the petitioner was at one time a burglar of considerable reputation."

In the papers it was explained that the man served a term in prison for burglary, but that after getting out he resolved to "brace up and be a man." He went to a part of the country where he was not known and studied engineering. None of his associates and no member of his family knew anything concerning his dark past. Like practically all others who seek citizenship years after being deprived of it, this man grew tired of making excuses to his wife and children for not voting.

Another case which attracted considerable attention was that of a Brooklyn business man who was sent to prison for robbery in 1872. He reformed, married, and now has a family of grown-up children. His sons last fall expressed surprise that their father did not vote, and his explanation was a lame one. To the officials here he said that he had always feared to swear in his vote lest some one who remembered the 1872 case would challenge him and expose his dark secret, which has always been kept from his wife and children. His application to be restored to the rights of an American citizen was granted, as was that of the Pennsylvania railway man.

Solves a Deep Mystery.

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Rader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters has no equal. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50c, at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

Fame and the Editor.

Fame, so difficult a possession to obtain, lies often than one usually thinks in the power of the press.

Oscar Browning in his interesting "Memories of Sixty Years" tells how Fox, then editor of the Monthly Repository, settled the fate of Robert Browning's "Pauline" when it first appeared by the mere word "balderdash."

The explanation given is that "a single line was required to complete the page, and the editor, taking up the first book on which he could lay his hand and thinking it insignificant and pretentious, described it as I have stated above."

Oscar Browning declares that the poet said "that by this accident his public recognition had been delayed for twenty years."

Boys get a hustle on you now and get the bicycle at Conyers & Sykes, by selling Mother's Joy.

Harduppe—"Wigwag is an easy mark. Anybody can get money out of him." Borrowwell—"Yes, even his wife."

For LaGrippe, Coughs and Stuffy Colds Take Foley's Honey and Tar. It gives quick relief and expels the cold from your system. It contains no opiates, is safe and sure. Howard Gardner.

A Teacupful or Bathtubful

—20 tubfuls of hot water if you choose.

The Ruud's capacity is measured by the flow per minute, not limited by an iron reservoir. You get hot water by merely turning the faucet—this is absolutely all you have to do. Water is heated instantaneously as it flows through the Ruud to you.

The Ruud Heats only the Exact Quantity of Water You are Using.

Do you want a teacupful?—The Ruud burns just enough gas to fill it with hot water—and then extinguishes the gas in its own burners and lies idle till you want hot water again. An economical, "self-operating" device.—Its scientific construction will interest you—come in and see it.

The Famous Rayo

Gives the Best Light at Any Price

When you pay more than the Rayo price for a lamp, you are paying for extra decorations that cannot add to the quality of the light. You can't pay for a better light, because there is none. An oil light has the least effect on the human eye, and the Rayo Lamp is the best oil lamp made, though low in price. You can pay $5, $10, or $20 for some other lamp, and although you get a more costly lamp, you can't get a better light than the white, mellow, diffused, unflickering light of the low-priced Rayo.

Has a strong, durable shade-holder. This season's burner adds to the strength and appearance. Made of solid brass, nickel-plated, and easily polished.

THE ELECTROSCOPE.

Instrument by Which the Presence of Electricity Is Detected.

The electroscope is an instrument for the detection of electricity. It depends for its action on the principle that bodies charged with like electricity repel, while those charged with unlike electricity attract each other. The ordinary pith ball suspended on a silk thread is the simplest form of the instrument.

The most common type of electroscope is that devised by Bennett in 1787 and known as the gold leaf electroscope. It consists of two strips of gold leaf or thin aluminum foil suspended from the lower extremity of a conductor within a glass bottle or jar. The upper end of the conductor terminates in a ball or a plate in case the instrument is to be used as a condensing electroscope. If a body charged with positive electricity is brought near the knob of the electroscope the negative electricity will be attracted to the knob and the positive repelled to the leaves, which diverge. If now the finger is touched to the knob the positive electricity is drawn off and the leaves collapse, while the negative electricity is held bound. Removing the charged body, the leaves will diverge again, charged with negative electricity. In this case the instrument can be used to determine the nature of a charge of a body brought near it, as with a positive charge the leaves will collapse and with a negative charge spread farther apart.—Exchange.

LONG SEARCH FOR HIS FAMILY.

Gladkowska Finds Wife and Sick Child After Trip to Russia.

Baltimore Sun.

Uneasiness over the welfare of his wife and child, whom he had sent for to join him in this country, made John Gladkowska take a trip to his native home in Russia only to find that they had left for the United States.

It took him nearly a week to find them in Baltimore and when he did he found his child seriously ill with brain fever. Mother and child are both at the Hebrew Hospital, where husband and father sees them every day.

Gladkowska is employed in the steel mills at Gary, Ind. About three months ago he sent for his wife and child to come to this country. Weeks rolled by and they did not arrive. Gladkowska became alarmed and with several hundred dollars in his pocket left for New York. There he boarded a fast steamer for Bremen and went to his wife's home in Russia. He was told that mother and child had left for America, and Gladkowska immediately started for this country.

He arrived in Philadelphia and was informed that his family were passengers on the steamer Bradenburg, which arrived here on December 29. Gladkowska came here and instead of going to the immigration officials inquired of the whereabouts of his wife and child from some acquaintances. They told him both had left for Gary, and Gladkowska boarded the next train for home. Disappointed upon his arrival there Gladkowska wired to Immigration Commissioner Weiss, who informed him that his family was at the Detention House. Gladkowska started back to Baltimore and while on his way here he sent a number of telegrams to the Commissioner asking him not to deport his wife and son.

In the meantime the child became ill and was taken to the hospital.

Gladkowska proposes to remain in this city until his child gets well, when he will take his family to Gary.

It soothes and relieves the irritation in the throat and loosens up the cold. I have always found it a reliable cough cure." Howard Gardner.

A New Edition

Now for the first time you get a complete set of all Mark Twain's writings at just exactly one-half the price they have ever been sold before. This is a new edition, just as complete as the old one, which still sells, by the way, at $50.00. This new edition is only $25.00—for the 25 volumes.

It had been Mark Twain's ambition to have his books in every American home, and he made a great personal sacrifice to bring about this remarkable opportunity—for the first time in the history of publishing, copyrighted books are sold at the price of non-copyrighted books—the chance will not come again.

But for Mark Twain's action this would have been impossible. Never before has a copyrighted library set of a standard author's works been issued at such a low figure.

His Complete Works—25 Beautiful Volumes

Brander Matthews says: "Mark Twain will be included in that group of writers headed by Molière and Cervantes. With the exception of Count Tolstoi, Twain was the greatest of recent modern writers, and will be handed down to posterity through the trio of his works 'Huckleberry Finn,' 'Tom Sawyer,' and 'Pudd'nhead Wilson.' Twain is a greater stylist than Stevenson or Thoreau, and his 'Man that Corrupted Hadleyburg' is one of the finest works in English literature." Mark Twain himself wrote a preface to this edition. Brander Matthews has written the biographical criticism of Mark Twain and his work. There are portraits of the author at periods when the different books were in process of writing.

There are beautiful pictures by such artists as Frost, Newell, Smedley, Thulstrup, Clinedinst, Kemble, and Oppen. The binding is in rich red rep silk book cloth, with title labels stamped in gold. The books are printed on white antique wave paper, especially made for this edition. Each volume is of generous size and bulk, 5 7/8 inches.

THE SPINSTER'S RETURN

To Be Given At An Early Date In Neese's Hall—Under Auspices of Centenary Philathea Class.

At an early date a caste of young ladies from the Philathea class of the Centenary Methodist church will give a most interesting entertainment at Neese's Hall.

The title of the playlet is to be "The Spinster's Return," which is fraught with humor and mirth-provoking fun and merriment throughout. The costumes will be of the antebellum and colonial styles, as well as some that are more modern and fetching for the dame who finds it necessary to affect charm in the donning of a bedizened attire.

There will be music, too: some comic songs with an accompaniment played on instruments that were used by the spinsters grandfathers. And altogether, the occasion promises to be one that will draw a large and enthusiastic house. Watch the papers for the date.

AFTER SOLFERINO.

"The Gentleman in White" and the Idea of the Red Cross.

During the Italian war of 1859 young Jean Dunant was traveling in that country. After the battle of Solferino he visited the field, and, seeing the terrible sufferings of the wounded soldiers who lay around unattended, he, with the assistance of several peasant women, formed an ambulance service, with its headquarters in a little church at Castiglione. He helped with his own hands to bind up the wounds of Frenchmen, Italians and Austrians alike.

"They are all brothers," he said. "A wounded enemy is an enemy no longer." And he and his corps of helpers brought water and medicine and smoothed the pallets of straw and cheered the unfortunates and closed the eyes of the dead and performed the last kind offices for the dying. Dunant was regarded by the hundreds of wounded as a miracle of goodness—little less than an angel. "The gentleman in white" was the way in which the officers spoke of him as he moved around among the sick, his light clothing making him conspicuous on the field.

His experiences at Solferino, where he saw that the willing hands of a few untrained helpers actually saved many lives and comforted hundreds of others, inspired him with the grand idea of an organization—the Red Cross.—Christian Herald.

COSTLY DROP CURTAIN.

The One Meissonier Didn't Paint For a French Theater.

The enterprising manager of a theater called upon the famous French artist Jean Louis Ernest Meissonier on one occasion and asked him to paint a drop scene for a certain theater and name his own terms.

"You have seen my pictures, then?" asked Meissonier.

"Oh, yes," exclaimed the manager, "but it is your name I want! It will draw crowds to my theater."

"And how large do you wish this curtain to be?" inquired the artist.

"Ah, well, we will say 15 by 18 meters."

Meissonier took up a pencil and proceeded to make a calculation. At last he looked up and said, with imperious gravity:

"I have calculated and find that my pictures are valued at 80,000 francs per meter. Your curtain, therefore, will cost you just 21,600,000 francs. But that is not all. It takes me twelve months to paint twenty-five centimeters of canvas. It will therefore take me just 190 years to finish your curtain. You should have come to me earlier, monsieur. I am too old for the undertaking now. Good morning."
